

WHO NEEDS MORE SUPPORT: CBP or Border Crossers

Customs and Border Protection (CBP) is the largest organization in the US. Over 600,000 land travelers legally enter the US every day through ports of entry along the US-Mexico border, but not all of them are having a good time.

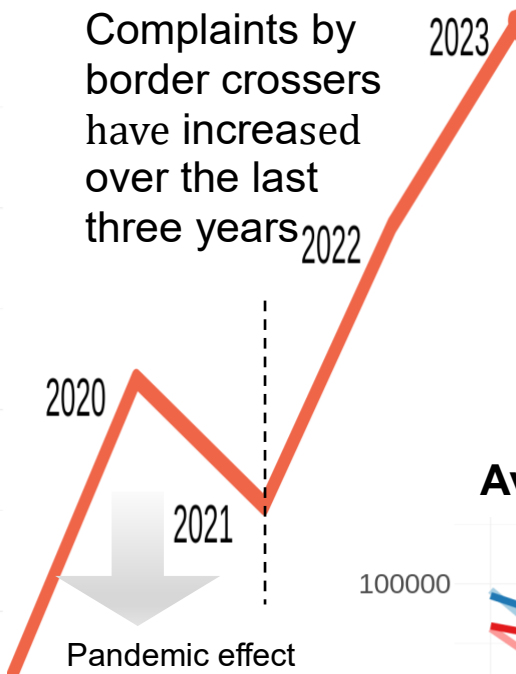

The average number of pedestrians and personal vehicles crossing the borders increased by %60 over the last three years.

Borders are getting crowded particularly at summertime

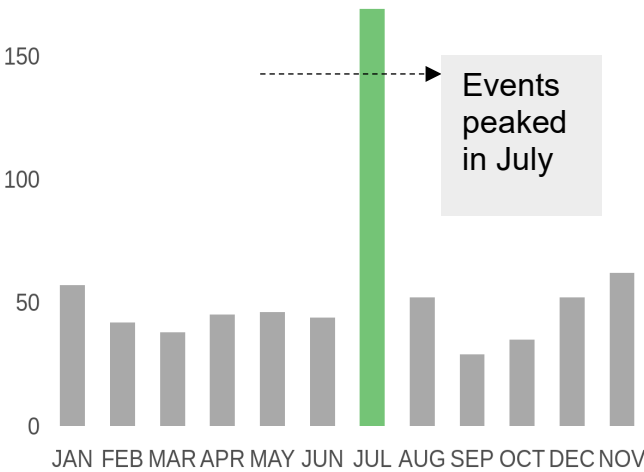

Average number of land entries by pedestrian and personal vehicles

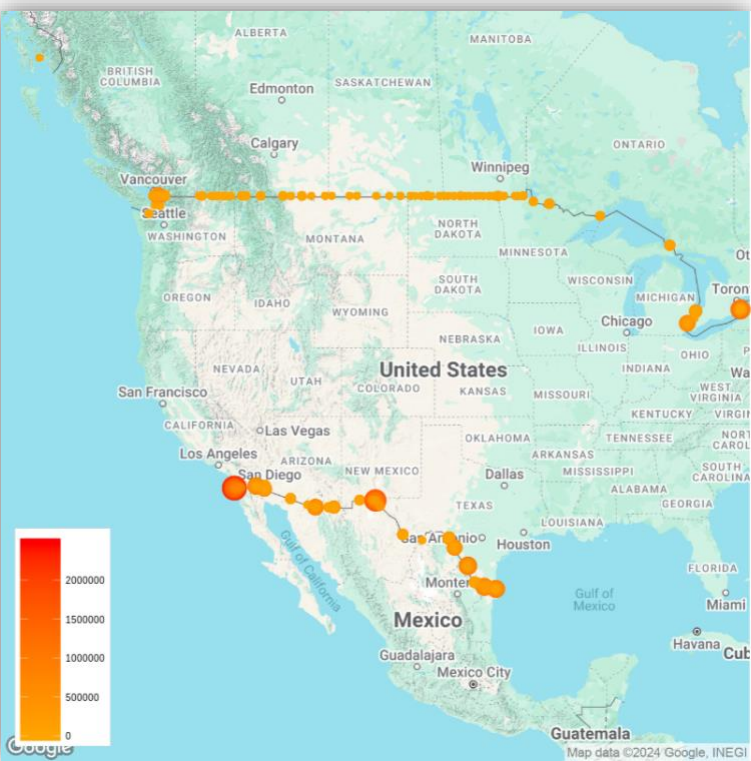

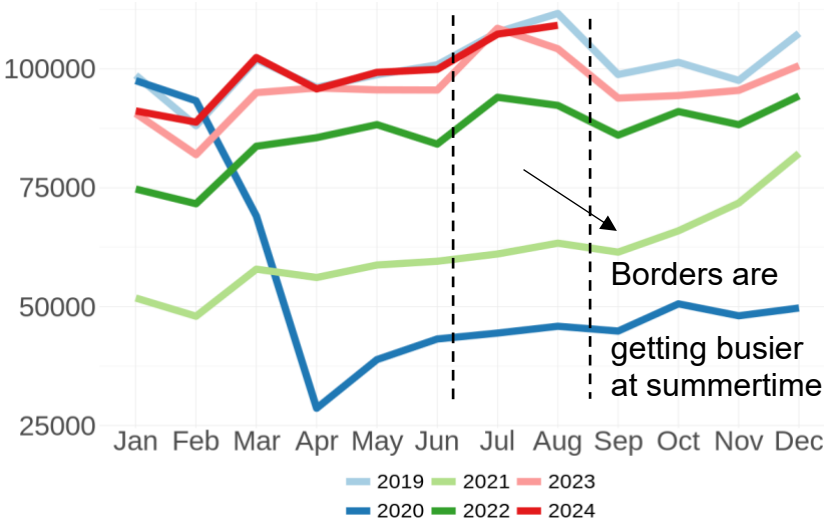

Complaints by border crossers have increased over the last three years

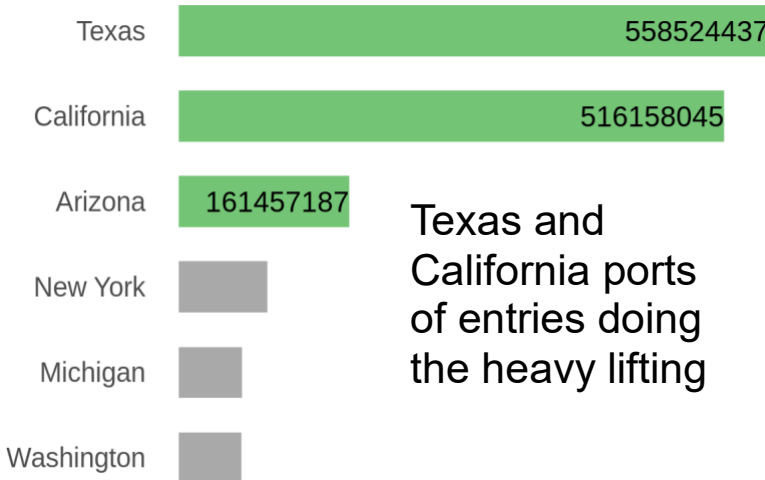

Number of officers involved in incidents at the borders

Average number of monthly

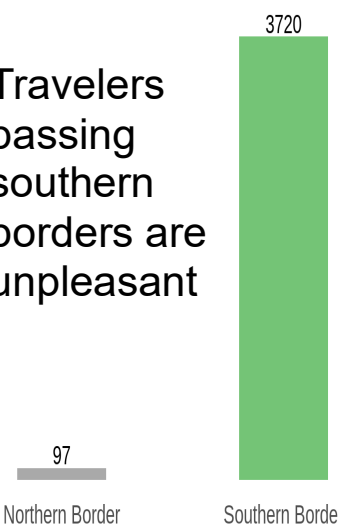

It is obvious that US-Mexican Border has more workload. Something should be done particularly at southern border to redress the complaints.

Texas and California ports of entries doing the heavy lifting

Travelers passing southern borders are unpleasant
